

Are you an enthusiastic neuroscientist and have a little extra time to invest?

Join the young German Neuroscience Society (jNWG) and take on an active role in building a strong neuroscientist network in Germany and Europe!

Sign up for our kick-off meeting from September 13th-15th 2019 at the Leibniz Institute for Neurobiology in Magdeburg

The meeting aims to establish and organise the jNWG.
We will create task groups to:

- connect student, PhD and Postdoc neuroscientists
- offer career advancement workshops
- establish our own jNWG conference
- publish short articles in Neuroforum & online
- start outreach activities, e.g. in schools

We are grateful for the support by special guests who will share background knowledge and career advice with us:

Esther Kühn (postdoc at IKND Magdeburg): science communication

Matthias Prigge (group leader at LIN): career development - a group leader's perspective

Stefan Remy (DZNE Bonn): career development - a director's perspective

Eckart Gundelfinger (LIN director): science politics & leadership
